

Wilderness First Responder/WEMT Recertification

ABOUT THE COURSE: The review will focus on a general review of the body systems, how they get into trouble and how you treat the problems. We will specifically review patient assessment skills, wilderness specific skills, and any changes that have occurred since your course. The format of the class will be largely participatory and you should be prepared to be outside regardless of the environmental conditions. Each day will be a blend of lecture, cases, discussions, practical exercises, simulations, videotaped critiques and examinations. Everyone will get the most from the course by personally committing to getting involved and being open and supportive of each other.

100% ATTENDANCE IS REQUIRED

Suggested References: Wilderness and Rescue Medicine, 6th Edition by J. Isaac. If you need to order this book you may obtain one directly from the wildmed.com website.

Prior to the Course: We strongly recommend that you review course materials in advance. Upon registration you will be provided with the course Login & password. Then you may access a WFR Study Guide and practice test by going to the Students drop down menu then choosing Login.
